INTRODUCTION

The financial performance and position of an entity may be influenced by deferred taxation. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are indications of an entity's exposure to future tax consequences. The accounting treatments for deferred taxation under FRS 112 are complex and are still subject to future changes.

OBJECTIVE

The objective of this seminar is to make simple the complicated technical requirement of FRS 112 and to enhance understanding of the rules of accounting for deferred taxation. It uses easy-to-understand charts and illustrations to explain the fundamental features of the balance sheet liability method. The seminar uses case studies to provide a systematic approach to the computation of deferred tax assets and liabilities.
