

Tax professionals are in demand because all organisations – whether small, medium or large conglomerates require taxation advice, whether in compliance work such as furnishing tax computations or in an advisory capacity in tax planning work. Other functions of a tax professional include advising on:

- i. Structuring of executive remuneration package;
- ii. Types of investment incentives provided by the government;
- iii. Restructuring and reorganization schemes which may involve transfers of share, real property, trading stock, fixed assets, debtors, etc;
- iv. The type of business structures that may be more tax efficient for both local and foreign investor;
- v. Cross border tax planning

The tax job is interesting, well paid, and one can find employment in public accounting firms, the commercial sector or even in the Inland Revenue Board,

The designation of an Associate Member is ACTIM. This designation denotes that the candidate is a person with appropriate expertise in the field of taxation.

Thank you for your interest in taxation.

As the saying goes, there is nothing in this world as certain as death and taxes. This clearly demonstrates the importance of taxation in everyone's life. Chartered Tax Institute of Malaysia (CTIM) is the ONLY professional body in Malaysia that provides an entry level to the world of taxation. Its objective is to train and build up a pool of qualified taxation personnel as well as to foster and maintain the highest standard of professional ethics and competency among its members.

Tax is not just the application of simple rules. One has to be well versed in the legislation, has the ability to research into case law, keep in touch with the administrative/technical practices of the tax authorities, be able to express thoughts and opinions in writing as well as exhibit diplomacy and tact in order to get the right results. It is in other words, an exciting profession.
