

WITHHOLDING TAX; the basics and the advanced

Date: 6 December 2012, Thursday
Venue: Seri Pacific Hotel, Kuala Lumpur

Event Code: WS/089
Time: 9.00am - 5.00pm

Introduction

Although income tax is a direct tax, in certain circumstances the payer has the responsibility to withhold the tax when making payment to the person who bears the tax, often a non-resident. The payer must deduct the tax and remit it to the tax authorities within the stipulated time period. If the payer fails to do so, he will suffer penalties and be prohibited from claiming a tax deduction against his own income for the payment to the other party unless and until the tax withheld and any penalty has been remitted. Further penalties can be incurred if the payer makes a claim for the expense in his tax computation before he has remitted the tax withheld to the tax authority. Ignorance is no excuse and it is imperative for any person managing the day-to-day payments and accounts of a business to understand their obligations under the withholding tax provisions, and the cost of non-compliance.
